“Committed to Educational Excellence”

June 8, 2010

Dear Parents,

It seems as though it were only yesterday when we were greeting you at the beginning of school. And now, the year is ending and we thank you for your support throughout the year.

It has been great to see what our students can achieve. Over 220 high school graduates are participating in ceremonies throughout the District marking the successful conclusion to one chapter in their education and the beginning of a new one. ISG graduates have been accepted to prestigious universities and colleges, such as Stanford University, Texas A & M, American University of Beirut, Queens University, American University of Cairo, McGill University, the Royal College of Surgeons Ireland, Concordia University, and Georgetown University.

Congratulations to our “leavers” from Dhahran British Grammar School who are off to excellent schools around the world! They are well prepared for the future!

Our departing ISG students remain a critical part of our educational community as alumni. Alumni are encouraged to stay in touch by registering with their individual schools and by sending an email to alumni@isgdh.org.

We are already preparing for 2010 – 2011. One of the opportunities will be to use our technology resources to provide 3 days of Virtual School early in October. Last year’s Virtual School experience turned out to be a success, and with improvements suggested by you, it will be another rewarding educational experience. One other notable change is that students will have their own isg.edu.sa e-mail address, which is a common practice in large schools. This will ensure that we have e-mail addresses accessible by students and parents.

We know that ISG owes its success to people: staff who are dedicated and committed to student learning, parents who are supportive, students who are the best in the world, and our Board of Trustees who support our school community. ISG has many reasons this year to honor, value, and celebrate. We have been blessed with a secure environment, abundant resources, and a culture of respect for each other.

As we move into the summer vacation, we wish each of you a wonderful, relaxing, and refreshing summer. If you are traveling, safe travels. Enjoy the special time with family and friends.

We look forward to seeing our returning students and colleagues in August. For those leaving ISG, we wish you well and much success wherever you are in the world.

Respectfully,

Norma Hudson
